smarter travel choices

Helping you make smarter travel choices

Do you want to know before you hit the state highway whether there's anything that could delay your arrival at your destination? Then the travel information service OnTheMove is for you.

It's a fully customisable travel information service that provides information to travellers prior to their journey, about road and driving conditions, incidents and road works taking place on New Zealand's state highways.

How does it work?

You can enter a From address and To address and plot your favourite routes on the map. These routes can then be saved under names you choose for them.

Once you've saved a route we can automatically send you an email at a time and on a day or days of your choosing, to let you know if there's a significant hold-up or need for caution on the state highway you travel on. If you'd like to see an example of an email alert please click here.

You can set up regional alerts too. These will provide updates about all the state highways in your selected region(s) during the time periods you select.

Minor incidents and general traffic congestion won't be sent out as alerts. Only major events that may disrupt state highway traffic or require caution will be reported to subscribers. Some weeks you won't receive any alerts and others, particularly in winter, you may receive a lot. It's all about giving you a heads-up before you travel, regarding significant incidents along the state highway network, so you can make smart travel choices – perhaps delaying your journey or using an alternative route if it's an option.
